Washington, March 27.—(United News)—New petroleum regulations have been promulgated by President Calles of Mexico which brings to a practical conclusion the 10-year controversy which several times threatened to cause a break between the United States and Mexico, the state department made known tonight.

The department, in a formal statement commenting on the regulations, expressed the view that President Calles has by voluntary action ended for all practical purposes the dispute and government's administration officials or that any questions which come up later can be adjusted by the Mexican government in the Mexican courts.

Many times the United States was on the point of breaking with Mexico over the oil laws and finally the situation became so serious that President

ST. LOUIS GIRL TO SING 'TOSCA'

New York Appearance of Young American in Important Role of Much Interest Here.

Appearance of Elda Vettori, St. Louis girl, in the title role in Puccini's great opera, "Tosca," when it is sung Saturday night in New York, is attracting widespread interest in Atlanta in view of the approaching season of grand opera to be offered here by the Metropolitan Opera company April 23 to 28.

One reason so much interest is being shown in Miss Vettori's appearance Saturday night is due to the fact that this will be the first time in the history of the Metropolitan company that such an important part as the leading role in "Tosca" has been entrusted to an American singer who has not had European study and experience. This will be one of the great triumphs for this sterling American singer, who has sung with the Metropolitan forces for a season and a half. In this time she has sung the roles of "Mimì" in the opera of that name; "Santuzza," in "Cavalleria Rusticana"; "Nedda," in "Pagliacci"; "Lauretta," in "Gianni Schicchi"; and "Leonora," in "La

The twisting tornado of late Monday night in eastern Cherokee county left these harrowing scenes in its path, killing five persons and injuring others. On the upper left is shown a portion of the remains of the home of W. J. Millwood, where four persons were killed, and in the upper right is the debris of the home of Osie Heath, who also died in the storm. The lower left hand picture shows little Edith Millwood, 9, who had both forearms broken. W. J. Millwood, Jr., 7, who received a severe laceration of the scalp, is shown in the lower right hand picture. The father and mother of the Millwood children and a brother and sister were killed by the tornado. The picture in the lower center shows the path of the debris from the Millwood home around the crest of the hill. From 1, the original site of the home, there is a scattered litter of beams and wood over the side of the hill along the dotted line to a gully at 2.

GEORGIA COTTON DELIVERY URGED

Textile Men Say Lack of Dixie Delivery Point
Handicaps Producers,
Shippers, Manufacturers

Over agitation in Washington over the fight made by the Anderson-Clayton Cotton company and other southern companies for the adoption of a southern delivery system and other discussions concerning the general cotton operations on the New York Cotton Exchange and other exchanges has brought to the forefront in Georgia the imperative need of a change in the laws in Georgia governing the sale of cotton for future delivery and has renewed the movement among leading southern cotton men for the establishment of a delivery point in Georgia.

This information was disclosed Tuesday in interviews with Thomas W. Tift, president of the Atlanta Commercial Exchange and president of the Piedmont Cotton Mills; J. Hope Turner, secretary of the exchange, and other cotton leaders. All the recent agitation in congress has drawn attention to the situation under which the New York Cotton Exchange operates without any southern delivery system and also to the statements that this is unfair to the cotton producers to the cotton producers, cotton shippers and cotton manufacturers of the entire industry and is as antiquated as the stagecoach, according to the local cotton men.

Mr. Tift pointed out that Georgia occupies the best strategic position of any state in the union for the development

Five Killed, Many Injured By Tornado Near Canton

BY BEN COOPER,
Staff Correspondent.

Canton, Ga., March 27.—(Special) Tales of the midnight horrors attendant upon the small tornado which hurled five persons to their death and severely injured nearly ten others late Monday night in the Orange and Lathatown communities of eastern Cherokee county were being told here today by survivors, while the Red Cross provided relief for those who survived.

Striking with the viciousness of a rattlesnake and totally without warning, the windstorm carved a path a quarter of a mile wide and six miles long over the Cherokee county hills, leaving demolished homes and uprooted trees in its wake. The tornado struck first at the home of William J. Millwood, in the Orange community, and after killing four persons and spreading the Millwood home east over the landscape, traveled east to Lathatown and destroyed four more houses.

The injured are: Alfred Millwood, 20; Leo Millwood, 11; Edith Millwood, 9, and W. J. Millwood, Jr., 7. Orange: Grady Fowler, 30; Mr. and Mrs. Howard McCuen, of Lathatown.

Breaks Eight Ribs.

Fowler, who is at Coker's hospital in Canton with eight ribs broken near the spine, and a fractured arm, is not expected to live. Edith Millwood, 9, both forearms fractured, and Leo Millwood has the left forearm broken. W. J. Millwood, Jr., received a severe laceration of the scalp, while Alfred Millwood was badly bruised about the face.

Osie Heath was crushed under his falling home. Mr. and Mrs. Fowler were visiting Heath at the time of the storm, and before the trio could rush out of the house on hearing the storm's approach, the building was twisted around and demolished. Mrs. Fowler narrowly escaped injury.

Funeral arrangements for the tornado victims are being made by C. H. Peacock, funeral director for Jones Mercantile company, and the funerals will probably be held Thursday.

One of the most harrowing stories of the storm was told by Alfred Millwood, who said that he and the rest of the family were in bed about 10 o'clock Monday night when he heard a terrible crashing noise coming toward the house. He ran to the door to see what the trouble was and started out of the house. As he left the house, a window frame or some other heavy object struck him on the head, and he went sailing through the air about 15 feet above the ground for a distance of 25 yards, landing in the road on his face, he said.

Children Crying.

"I was dizzy for some time after landing, and when things quieted down, I heard some of the children crying," the youth said. "I finally located three of them, and we took them in a old room near by, where I built a fire for them. When dawn came I went to the home of W. F. Edwards and got help."

Young Millwood told a horrible tale of rushing through the air at express train speed, and of seeing beams and pieces of heavy timber fly by him like birds. He does not quite understand.

The plane will carry 2,500 litres of gasoline, enabling it to remain 24 hours in the air.

AIR MAIL TESTS TO BEGIN MONDAY

Pitcairn Officials Hold Conference Here With View of Opening Route Early in May.

Intensive preparations for inauguration early in May, of the Atlanta-New York air mail service were begun Tuesday when officials of Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., held a series of conferences with postoffice and city aviation chiefs with a view of beginning Monday a series of test flights to continue throughout the month of April.

Geoffrey S. Childs, vice president and general manager; James G. Ray, operations manager; H. A. Holbrook, director of public relations, and J. W. T. Ricker, of the public relations department, were members of the Pitcairn management, holders of the contract, who represented the company in the negotiations.

They attended a meeting of the aviation committee of city council Tuesday afternoon and asked for the protection of the company and its large investment at Candler field. At this conference they federal regulations be placed in force that all planes operating from the field be forced to comply with United States government regulations.

Rule Adoption Asked.

The committee voted to ask city council to empower it to insist that these rules be made the governing regulations of the field, and also draw a contract with the corporation in ac-

New York, March 27.—(AP)—The speculative skyscraper, created by three weeks of almost steadily rising prices on the New York exchange, was rocked to its foundation today by the temporary collapse of its leading pillars, but new supports were quickly erected and a few towers built up to new record heights before the day was over.

The day's trading set another new high record at 4,762,400 shares as contrasted with the previous peak of 4,762,200 shares established yesterday.

Wall street has never experienced such a day of violent and bewildering price movements. Prices crashed $5 to nearly $20 a share in the first half hour of trading, but the low prices had not appeared on the tape before a general rally was under way which cut down, or wiped out, most of the early losses and sent a few issues soaring to new high levels.

The stock ticker, manned by relays of operators working at top speed, fell hopelessly behind the market, creating considerable confusion among many of the speculators who frequented the customers' rooms of brokerage houses anxiously awaiting reports on their orders.

At 11:31 a. m. the ticker was 33 minutes late, the longest delay since the recently abbreviated system of quotations was put into effect. One

ARSON SUSPECTED AS FIRES DAMAGE 2 FRAME HOUSES

With incendiary suspected by the fire department in two fires Tuesday afternoon, Tuesday night police are pushing a vigorous search for the "firebug" who are believed to have fired a two-story frame apartment building at 252 Rankin street and another two-story frame house at 138 McDonough road.

Police investigations developed that a child saw a man running out of the burning first floor of the Rankin street dwelling shortly before the fire, in which considerable damage was done. The second floor is occupied by H. V. Freeman.

Two companies of fire apparatus were called to subdue flames at the McDonough road residence, which is vacant. The house was partly destroyed.

WEATHER BALKS ATLANTIC FLIGHT

Dublin, March 28.—(Wednesday)

(AP)—Early this morning it was stated that the German plane Bremen probably would not start for America today because of unfavorable weather reports. Captain Koehl, who speaks no English, said it was foolish to assume that the flight was without risks but that reasonably fair weather was all that was necessary for success. He declared his plane, was the finest in existence. He said they were prepared for all eventualities and regarded the trip as a well-planned scientific effort and not a mere adventure.

The plane will carry 2,500 litres of gasoline, enabling it to remain 24 hours in the air.

BLAKE ATTACKERS ARE GRANTED BAIL

Birmingham, March 27.—(P)—Mrs. Mabel Montesbaro, Miss Cecil Tubbs, and their brother, A. H. Tubbs, accused of an attack on Police Chief H. F. Blake, of Calera, Ala., in a Columbus, Ala., courtroom last Thursday, were released from the Jefferson county jail at 5 p. m. today on bonds totaling $15,000.

The three were given their freedom after Justice of the Peace J. M. Leonard, of Columbianna, agreed on bond earlier in the day.

Mrs. Montesbaro and her brother and sister were arrested last Friday on charges of assault on the Calera police officer, who had just been acquitted of the murder of Mrs. Montesbaro's 24-year-old daughter, Louise.

A pistol shot fired at Blake by Mrs. Montesbaro went wild but Miss Tubbs stabbed the officer in the back with a hunting knife. Blake, who now is confined in a Clinton, Ala., hospital, had been tried and acquitted for the mysterious death of Louise Montesbaro, who was shot to death last November. The defense maintained the girl committed suicide after Blake and a companion officer arrested her for speeding.

The three will have their liberty until a Shelby county grand jury takes some action on the attack. Any court action will await the outcome of Blake's injury.

All three of the accused persons left tonight for their home in Selma, Ala.

MAYOR TO REFER SITE SUGGESTION TO CITY COUNCIL

Mayor L. N. Bagdale will refer to city council a letter from Hugh Richardson, real estate operator, suggesting that the city of Atlanta acquire the postoffice building for a new city hall, he announced Tuesday.

The mayor stated he would suggest a committee of special city commissioners to take the matter up with United States Senators William J. Harris and Walter F. George and Congressman Leslie Steele, of this district.

Recommendations of Mr. Richardson were made following announcement that government survey had been completed here, detailing needs of a new postoffice building and that the detailed report would be filed in Washington by April 1.

Council already has adopted a measure to build the new municipal building at Trinity avenue and Washington street and plans are now being completed by G. Lloyd Preacher architect.

LOCAL PERCENTAGE OF UNEMPLOYMENT IS THIRD SMALLEST

Only two cities in the United States have a smaller percentage of unemployed persons than Atlanta, according to figures for February just given out by the American Federation of Labor. Milwaukee has the smallest, 8 per cent; Minneapolis second, 10 per cent, and Atlanta is third with 11 per cent. Baltimore, Omaha and Cleveland reported the largest percentage of unemployed.

The unemployment situation in this city is expected to be greatly relieved by the next few months. The Ford and Chevrolet Motor companies, which soon will start operation and construction of the twin viaducts, the addition to the Southern Railway buildings and construction of the new Rhodes-Haverty office building on Peachtree street and numerous smaller construction, will help considerably.

The federation's figures for January and February follow:

"INFALLIBLE BOOK" SERMON SUBJECT OF DR. DOBYNS

Delivering his third sermon of the week, Dr. William Ray Dobyns, pastor of the South Highland Presbyterian church of Birmingham, Ala., addressed a large congregation Tuesday night, which are being held daily at 12:15 o'clock under auspices of the Atlanta Christian council and the Evangelical Ministers' association, at the First Baptist church.

Speaking on "The Infallible Book," Dr. Dobyns will take as his subject for today, "The Invincible Book." Dr. J. W. Caldwell, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church, will preside.

DR. H. C. MORRISON PREACHES TONIGHT TO YOUNG PEOPLE

Young people will have their inning tonight at revival services being conducted by the Rev. H. C. Morrison at St. Paul Methodist church.

At 8 o'clock the debate next Tuesday night, a secret vote of the audience will be taken. Ballots will be furnished each ticketholder. In this way it is hoped to secure a fair estimate of the views of Atlantans on this subject.

Tickets for the debate will go on sale at Cable Diamond shop on North Pryor street, and Phillips and Crew Piano company at Peachtree and Ellis streets, on Saturday morning.

DAVIS BOY RETURNS TO GRADY HOSPITAL FOR SKIN-GRAFTING

Following a narrow escape from death when his arm was amputated, Thomas Davis, 12, of 942 Peachtree street, was returned to Grady hospital Tuesday for a skin-grafting operation. The youth was recovering from the amputation at his home.

He fell from a "swinging cable" near his home recently and his right arm was broken in such a way that amputation was indicated. Gas gangrene set in and five blood transfusions were necessary. He previously had been treated at Grady hospital for five weeks.

POLICE LIEUTENANT SCOTT CRITICALLY ILL OF PNEUMONIA

Police Station Lieutenant J. A. Scott, one of the most popular and widely-liked members of the police department, who has been confined at his residence, 741 Formalt street, since March 9, with a case of bronchial pneumonia, was reported Tuesday night in a critical condition.

Lieutenant Scott has been a member of the police force for 20 years, and has held the office of station lieutenant since it was created. This year's club, it was stated, is preparing to stage one of the best openings in the history of the club, and among its personnel several artists who contributed to the success of Atlanta's light opera last summer. F. W. Campbell, local musical instructor, is coaching the organization.

TWO ARE ARRESTED AS METAL THIEVES

Just as they are alleged to have drawn a horse and wagon up to a large pile of brass and steel in the Southern railway yards, on McDaniel street, at dawn Tuesday morning, and prepared to load the vehicle, John Stokes and Sylvester Wood, of 904 Wells street, were placed under arrest by Special Officer A. M. Peacock.

The deprivations had been occurring for some time, it is said, and the officers spent Monday night waiting for the thieves to put in their appearance.

Recorder A. W. Callaway, Tuesday afternoon, bound over the two for the grand jury on charges of simple larceny. Bond was set at $300 each.

WATKINS IS SPEAKER AT EXCHANGE LUNCH

Edgar Watkins, Atlanta attorney, spoke to the Exchange club on "Criminal Procedure in the Courts of the United States Today" at its meeting in the Henry Grady hotel Tuesday.

Mr. Watkins made four recommendations for improving the judicial system—better juries, speedier trials, more power for the judges who preside in the criminal courts, and speedier convictions. He said that better juries might be obtained by impressing upon the citizens the fact that it is their duty to serve when summoned.

Ed Anchors, of the Georgia Power company, provided musical entertainment. Vice President Van McIntyre presided in the absence of the president, William E. Arnard.

PELEA OF CENTRAL TO DISCONTINUE 2 TRAINS FOUGHT

Citizens living along the Macon-to-Milledge line of the Central of Georgia railway appeared here Tuesday to protest before the Georgia public service commission against the road's petition to discontinue trains Nos. 21 and 22 on the line.

The road also is seeking to extend trains 21 and 20, now operating between Columbus and Gordon, from Gordon into Macon.

Parties opposing the proposed abolition of trains Nos. 21 and 22 are said to be seeking continuance of the trains from Macon as far as Tennille.

CHAIRMAN NYE WITHHOLDS REPLY TO SMITH LETTER

Washington, March 27.—(P)—Chairman Nye, of the senate oil committee, withheld comment today on the second letter concerning the trout pool controversy written to him by Governor Smith, of New York, pending receipt of the communication.

Senator Robinson, republican, has deferred completion of his speech on the New York governor and the whole senator until the return of Senator Walsh, who went to Michigan to attend the funeral of Senator Ferri.

A. C. Carver, vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Joseph Wolfe, who is in Florida.

CHURCHES ASK POLICE FOR AUTO PROTECTION

City police have been asked by members of the Park Street Methodist and the West End Christian churches to protect property near the churches during Sunday, March 25, night. Several times during the past few church services, thieves have stolen numerous accessories from automobiles and several machines have been practically stripped, police were told.

POLICE HELP ASKED IN SEARCH FOR BOY

J. A. COUCH PROBE TO OPEN TONIGHT

Investigation of charges launched against Alderman J. Allen Couch, of the fifth ward, that he received $7,000 commission in the purchase, from bond funds, of a site for the merger of the Haygood-State schools in the fifth ward, will begin at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Twenty-seven witnesses have been subpoenaed by the councilmanic committee named on demand of Mr. Couch, it was announced by Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, chairman.

The charge against Mr. Couch was made by Mr. J. W. Thompson, president of the Atlanta board of education, at a conference meeting at which representatives of the Atlanta bond commission, the board of education and members of general council were present.

One of the first moves of the defense will be to question the witness he swears to by Dr. Eubanks, it was said. This was taken as a hint that civil libel and slander action will be instituted in the event Mr. Couch is cleared of the complaint.

Among those subpoenaed are Frank H. Neely, chairman of the bond commission; George W. Powell, president of the board of education; Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools; R. E. Ritchie, assistant superintendent; Dr. Fred D. Titus, president of the Dulin Realty company, which handles bonds; B. Graham West, city controller; Miss Muriel Buxton, secretary of the board of education; George A. Campbell and C. B. Brewer, of the Atlanta Title and Trust company; C. C. Connelly, Wiley M. Moore, of the seventh; Councilman Frank Kenney, of the eighth; Horace Russell, former councilman from the ninth; Alderman R. E. Gann, of the sixth; Richard C. Shoup, local real estate man, and J. W. Maddox, school commissioner from the fifth.

JUDGE BEN LINDSEY.

Legal?" Judge Lindsey, of course, will champion the affirmative, and Dr. Houghton will uphold the negative.

Both sides are expected to argue whether he had any part in obtaining the huge sum used to wipe out the republican party deficit in 1923 when Hays received $290,000 in Continental Trading company Liberty bonds.

Simultaneous with discussion in the house, Secretary Wilbur announced at the navy department that new bids would be requested on the air liners. This was explained at the capital as necessary to receive formally an application by the Goodyear company, of Akron, Ohio, to direct the secretary to ask at once for bids.

The history of the proposed dirigibles began immediately after the wreck of the Shenandoah. Both were authorized last year, and appropriated $200,000 to start one. The Goodyear company submitted a contract which the navy did not accept, and naval officers this year advised congress to provide funds to start both, explaining that if this were done the Goodyear company had expressed willingness to bid on both at a cost of $8,000,000, including a cost of $1,000,000 of cost fixed by Congress at the time the air liners were authorized.

It also was said at the capitol that even if the New Jersey concern had not intimated that it desired to bid, that the department, nevertheless, he would have been compelled to call for bids in order to receive the expected Goodyear offer.

The Nicaraguan debt was opened by Representative Moore, democrat, Virginia, who inquired how much the presence of marines in the central American country was costing the United States. Representative Frank, republican, Idaho, chairman of the committee, said that this would not be known until the last deficiency appropriation bill of the present session had been started.

La Guardia, however, declared that the cost approximated between $50,000 and $100,000 per day to keep the marines in Nicaragua, and that he believed they were there for a useless purpose. No matter how the Nicaraguan election results, he declared, marines will be needed to enforce its decision. He argued that the administration should put the "ideals and hopes" expressed by Charles Evans Hughes at the Panama-American conference into execution by withdrawing the marines.

The bill, among other things, carries funds to maintain the navy at its present strength and also to continue construction of eight 10,000-ton cruisers and two fleet submarines.

Representative Black, democrat, New York, was unsuccessful in an attempt to provide funds to build three more submarines and nine destroyer leaders.

Holy communion will be celebrated at 8 o'clock every morning this week at St. Philip's cathedral. Tom Thurmond and Stanley were will be additional celebrants at 11 o'clock in the morning and on Friday an additional service will be held at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Canon J. W. Gubbins will have charge of all 8 o'clock celebrations except the Sunday morning service. The Rev. H. H. Miller, Jr., will have charge of the 11 o'clock service Thursday morning, and E. R. Shaw, a lay member, will have charge of the Friday evening service. The Rev. H. H. Say, Ft. Benning, Ga., will have charge of the Palm Sunday services.

NAVY PLANES CRASH, FLIERS ARE UNINJURED

Pensacola, Fla., March 27.—(P)—The game of air warfare took on a new page yesterday when two navy fliers, flying friend and enemy, collided 2,000 feet in the air and one of them went out of control.

Ensign J. M. Carson, U. S. N., was flying in mock war fashion from Lieutenant E. L. Kimes, United States marine corps flier, when the former's Curtiss Hawk struck the tail of Kimes' plane.

Carson's plane went out of control immediately, and he took to his parachute. He landed on the navy field and sustained a sprained ankle. Kimes still could manage his machine and tried to land. However, it looped over and landed bottom side up. The airman emerged uninjured, though the plane was badly damaged.

Belmont Hospital

TON CLARK

A LOT of water has flowed under the bridge since Tom Clark first donned porter's livery. When he first cocked his cap jauntily over his eye New York was a vastly different place from its present appearance. That was before the Belmont and others of New York's greatest hotels had been erected or even thought of.

Time has dealt very kindly with Tom and he walks faster and carries more luggage at a time, with less exertion, than porters half his age. He is known all over New York City as one of the best examples of the Old School.

Tom is popular from Maine to the Golden Gate, for his patrons always become his personal friends.

Washington, March 27.—(P)—Without a record vote, the house today passed the largest annual supply bill for the navy department since the Washington naval limitations conference. The measure, which now goes to the Senate, carries $350,000,000, or $20,384,000, more than the current appropriation.

The bill's consideration was marked with a demand by Representative La Guardia, a New York republican, for immediate withdrawal of American marines from Nicaragua and also by a protracted discussion of the length of contracts for two dirigibles authorized by congress several years ago.

FATALITY DRIVER IS GIVEN 3 YEARS

Savannah, Ga., March 27.—(AP)—Henry W. Stegall, charged with murder in connection with the death of Dan B. Hull, Jr., killed when run over by Stegall's automobile, was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter by a jury in superior court here today. Judge Meldrim imposed sentence of three years in the penitentiary.

The case went to the jury yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock and the verdict was returned today at 11:30 o'clock.

The state attorney said Stegall was drunk at the time he ran into Hull who, with two companions, was riding along the road on a bicycle.

The other two boys were only slightly hurt when knocked from the road by the machine, but young Hull's head was cut so badly when Stegall's car crushed it in a tree after pinning the lad on the bumper.

Entries in The Constitution's famous Triple Elephant Game close tomorrow night at midnight. You may enter, notwithstanding, and probably qualified to win one of the big cash prizes starting with the capital award of $1,500 and running down a list which totals $4,000?

Do it today! Don't procrastinate, for you never know what might happen at the last minute to keep you from getting in line for one of the big cash prizes.

It's not too late even now to enter the game and win a prize. Within the past three days a dozen or more have submitted entries which were worked out in five hours' working time or less. Why not get up this morning and enter the game? You can do it.

The main thing, however, is to get your answer in and qualified immediately. Make it snappy!

SAVANNAH WOMAN VICTIM OF ATTACK AS STORM RAGES

Savannah, Ga., March 27.—(AP)—Harold Clark, charged with the murder of Tate P. Rowland on December 21, 1926, was found guilty of the crime by a jury in superior court here this afternoon, and was sentenced to life imprisonment. This was the second trial of Clark. He was convicted the first time on February 2, 1927, and sentenced to life. He secured a new trial by order of the state supreme court, when Judge Meldrim was reversed on a technical error in his charge because of reference to an alleged confession. "No mention of the confession was made during the trial today."

The Clark case opened at 10 o'clock this morning and went to the jury shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The jury reached a verdict at 6:45 o'clock. The defense claimed Clark, a self-styled "thief," refused to take a silver cocktail shaker as prize.

Hunters, of Atlanta, won the 18-hole golf tournament that was one of the features of the entertainment of the National Paint, Oil and Varnish association, with a net score of 74 over the General Oglethorpe course.

The afternoon was devoted to golf, and a banquet was given to night.

PLENTY OF TALK; NO BOMB ARRESTS

Chicago, March 27.—(AP)—Bitter recriminations came tonight as the aftermath of bombing last night at the homes of Charles S. Deneen, United States senator, and Judge John A. Swanson, candidate for the republican nomination for state's attorney.

Rewards totaling $65,000 were offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the bombers. From Washington, Senator Deneen, head of a strong republican faction in Chicago, issued a statement asserting that "the bombing of my home is the work of organized and directed criminal classes of Chicago and Cook county in their desperate effort to retain political control of the city and county."

At the Swanson home the bomb exploded just as the judge drove into his garage, missing him but damaging his residence. He said he regarded it as an obvious attempt at assassination.

"There is no doubt that the bomb was thrown by those whose criminal interests are opposing the election of an enemy to their political alliance," he said.

Crow Accuses Enemies.

Robert E. Crowe, candidate for reelection as state's attorney, and co-leader with Mayor William Hale of a powerful republican faction, offered a reward of $10,000 for the arrest and conviction of anyone connected with the bombers. He also offered immunity to anyone who would supply information.

With his offers, however, he coupled an accusation that the Deneen faction leaders themselves were responsible for the bombing in an effort to maintain parity for ticket facing defeat in the statewide primary April 10.

Michael Hughes, police commissioner, offered a reward of $5,000 and issued a statement backing up Crowe's allegations.

John Farnell, president of the Chicago Law and Order League, tonight addressed an open letter to Mayor Thompson and State's Attorney Crowe in which he asserted:

No Single Arrest.

"As far as the situation in Chicago today is concerned I believe it is worse, as far as bombings and murder, than any time in the history of the city and I believe there are no two men as much responsible for this bad condition as you two men, because of your not obeying your oath of office and seeing to it the laws of the United States, the state of Illinois and the ordinances of Chicago are enforced."

He invited Crowe to have him before the grand jury to tell "some of the story of the commencement of bombing and murder in Chicago."

Mr. Farwell referred to letters he sent to President Coolidge and congress in April 1928 suggesting federal investigation of conditions in Chicago.

Nowhere was there an arrest in sight and no one professed to have a clue of the guilty persons.

Big Bill Schaefer.

"It is inconceivable that any man would bomb his own home to make headway in politics," Judge Swanson said, concerning Crowe's charge.

"Any man that makes such a statement ought not to be trusted any further by the public."

The bombing of the Deneen first was a two-story frame structure, at first was considered as possibly opening the way for federal investigation of Chicago conditions, but George E. Q. Johnson, United States district attorney, stated that the matter was closed as not being federal.

Mayor Thompson issued a statement asserting his belief that "Bob Crowe has the right slant on what is going on" and later came out with a plan to use brass bands and old-fashioned street bands over two weeks until next Christmas to advertise Chicago's growth and offset her reputation as a crime-ridden city.

Don't Be "Skinny" and Scrawny!

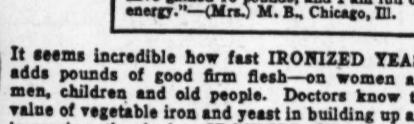

Build up Weight in 3 Weeks with New Combination of YEAST and IRON—or Pay Nothing

Pleasant Because Tasteless

No Woman is Beautiful Who is Skinny

"I Gained 10 Pounds" "For a year I had no energy or ambition. My weight was down, I could not sleep at night. I fell off in weight until I was but a shadow of my former self. After taking three tablets of IRONIZED YEAST I feel like a new person. My complexion has cleared up wonderfully. I have gained 10 pounds, and I am full of energy."—Mrs. M. B., Chicago, Ill.

It seems incredible how fast IRONIZED YEAST adds pounds of good firm flesh between men and women, children and old people. Doctors now know the value of vegetable iron and yeast in building up and improving the body. IRONIZED YEAST is in a highly concentrated form, contains all the blood-building properties of vegetable iron with yeast.

New Complexion For You

People take when in the magic in IRONIZED YEAST that transforms sallow, lifeless, faded complexion into the fresh, smooth, lovely skin of early girlhood? Wrinkles disappear. Eyes renew the sparkle of youth. Hollows fill out.

Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—weight-building Yeast and strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt and which makes malt so beneficial. It is specially cultured yeast concentrated to give the utmost in flesh-producing value.

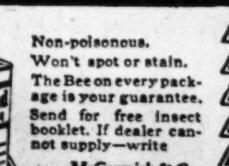

Only Yeast Ironized in this way is it most effective. Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building strength of yeast. That's why IRONIZED YEAST works so quickly.

Get a generous test treatment—pleasant tasting tablets in a handy bottle. No nasty taste. No cause gas or bloating. Safe for everybody—containing no harmful drugs.

Try it on "Money-Back" Offer

Go to any drug store and get a full size treatment. If after this generous trial you are not delighted with effects, ask for your money back. It will be refunded immediately. If inconvenient to buy from druggist, send $1.00 to THE IRONIZED YEAST CO., ATLANTA, GA., Dept. 282.

CAUTION! While the amazing health-building value of IRONIZED YEAST tablets has been established beyond question, it has been found that they may cause constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion, and a generally weakened physical condition. IRONIZED YEAST should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to having weight increased to normal.—©1927—L. L. Co.

hours in the air. Its pilots hope to reach New York within 36 hours.

BY GEORGE MACDONAGH,
United News Special Correspondent.

Dublin, March 27.—Celebrating in advance a trans-Atlantic flight attempt which they know to be a desperate gamble against terrific odds, the crew of the German monoplane Bremen today went gaily through a series of functions in their honor and hoped to start at dawn Wednesday for "Mitchel field or heaven."

It was announced officially tonight that the start would be made at 5 a.m. Wednesday, despite the fact weather reports from the British air ministry said London was unfavorable.

The three flyers—a high nobleman, a war ace, and a soldier-mechanic—were confident they would succeed in a westward crossing of the Atlantic where all previous starters had failed.

"Meantime, we are going to enjoy life here," said one of them—Baron von Huenfeld, close friend of the former German crown prince, to the United News.

The winners are Misses Muriel Haire, Frances Merritt, Sue Bullock, Frances Banks, Evelyn Sheward, Frances Lane, Jewel Jones, Cherry Bentley, Barbara Rosse, Buford Carter, Olive Westbrook, Frances Buerne, Frances Maynard, Elsa Phillips, Peggy Reese, Margie Burns, Sarah Bradley and Grace Thompson.

They were chosen from 250 applicants for the positions who responded to a call issued by The Constitution for pretty girls on behalf of the Muse company and the Howard theater.

They will wear the most gorgious attire of the season, ranging from the Muse stocks in a display of new and stylish sports, morning, afternoon and evening wear on the Howard stage.

The winning girls were selected by judges solely on a basis of their ability to wear the clothes designed for the fashion show. Rehearsals for the show now are in progress, and Muse officials state that it will be one of the most interesting and complete affairs of its kind ever held here.

MEXICAN FEDERALS REPORT 9 REBELS KILLED IN CLASH

Mexico City, March 27.—(AP)—Dispatches from Mexico today said the start for America. Newspapers and publishers were kept away from the British by guards. The two German mechanics who turned the plane over to the British and superintended its refueling. Everything was made ready for a short stay as weather conditions seemed favorable.

"We are in fine condition, all three, and in the best of spirits," said Baron von Huenfeld to the United News. "Our airplane is splendid. It worked so beautifully on our flight here that we all are fully confident we shall reach America.

Maintain Secrecy.

"I can't see why people have commented on the fact I am carrying a revolver. I always carry one anyway, and on a long flight, I don't know who we don't know where we shall meet, one is more than ever necessary."

The greatest secrecy was maintained at Baldonnel field regarding the start for America. Newspapers and publishers were kept away from the British by guards. WISDOM'S POWER—The Lord by wisdom hath founded the earth; by understanding hath He established the heavens. By His knowledge the depths are broken up, and the clouds drop down the dew.—Prov. 3:19, 20.

FLY YOUR FLAG—Open our hearts, Lord, to receive power through window
from Thee.

FLORIDA AND FREE TRADE.

The people of Florida, at least,
are not in favor of free trade. A great part of their industry and prosperity is dependent upon the marketable value of their citrus, truck and vegetable crops. Those crops are now menaced by the competition of Mexican regions across the Rio Grande. The growers down there are able, with pean labor and favorable transportation rates, to invade American markets and undersell the Florida products.

That competition has now grown so formidable as to threaten the extinction of some of the special field industries of Florida.

The remedy, or salvation, if you please, that the Floridians seek is such an increase in tariff duties on the Mexican products as to end the disastrous competition. They are appealing to their representatives in congress to fight for such increased rates and the congressmen are sympathetic with the demands.

But the wonder is why the Florida growers and their congressmen do not go directly to the president and urge him to apply to their case the federal provision of the tariff act?

Under that clause the president has the plenary authority to raise the rates by fifty per cent on the commodities that are strangling American products in the home markets. He has used that power in other cases to protect effectively the industries and products of other sections of the country—and why not now to save the investments and industries of Florida?

Here, too, is another spotlight illustration that the tariff issue is no longer a sectional or partisan
one. All sections of the nation have some particular interest in the incidences and effects of tariff rates;
and thereby the reasons multiply why the tariff should be removed from politics and put into the hands of a non-partisan, scientific, economic commission.

URGES TAX REDUCTION.

One of the strongest appeals yet made to the president, and to congress, for the passage of a corporate tax reduction measure is by John E. Edgerton, of Chattanooga, who is president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

He urges immediate action, holding that the excess in the income tax returns over last year justifies a sane and reasonable relief to the only body of taxpayers that has had its assessments increased in the face of past reductions for all others.

Mr. Edgerton pleads with congress to adjourn politics for the moment—which it will not do—but should—and grant the relief.

He severely takes to task, in a letter addressed directly to the president, those who are making a political football of the issue, and very properly scores those business men who are helping to block reduction by clamoring for an amount far in excess of what the country can safely assume.

In his letter, which reached the president Monday, Mr. Edgerton said:

"In view of the favorable growth in the national income, and the unfortunate contentions in Washington, we beg to urge that you direct your specific attention once more to the subject, and that congress adjourn politics for the moment and pass a rational measure of relief. You and your advisers have taken a reasonable, conservative position, balancing the government expenses against the government income. You must adhere to the budget. The figures already suggested (approximately $150,- 000,000 in corporate taxes—a reduction of one and one-half per cent.)
will be an appreciable saving to the taxpayers of the country. It is unfortunate that any group of business men, who know a reduction is right and due, should jeopardize business in general by quibbling for an excessive amount. In all the discussions over the exact sum, the National Association of Manufacturers is fully disposed to accept the figures arrived at by those who are most competent to reckon them from the viewpoint of our national financial safety."

As with individuals so it is with nations. It will be safer and better business to pass this year a reduction ratio that is known to be safe,
and take no chance of impairment
by arbitrarily demanding a larger reduction, than to demand a reduction inconsistent with the nation's earnings.

The point is, business should be unshackled from excess taxation as rapidly as possible but partisan and political quibbling can and will result only in an adjournment of congress without any action whatever.

This congress is running "true to form," as has been the record every presidential year since politics supplanted statesmanship in the legislative branch of government.

Every move is actuated by party considerations.

The national conventions are less than 90 days ahead. The session will come to a close before the conventions. Many of the members of both houses are now absent from Washington. Indications are not of a constructive nature will be enacted. It is little less than a national disgrace. Whatever else may be lost in the jam, the fact is outstanding that congress will be discredited if it does not pass a tax reduction bill on the basis of national prudence.

15 THE REPUBLIC FOR SALE?

If 27 per cent of American voters this year are indifferent to the crimes of the republican party and to its sale of the republic to grafters and looters, that party can reasonably hope to win the November election.

In 1924 only about 53 per cent of the possible electorate cast their ballots and from them Coolidge received a majority of over 7,000,000 votes. And that, too, in face of the scandalous scandals of the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills oil robes.

Now, with all the accumulated confessions by authoritative party leaders of their crooked transactions and subterfuges in connection with the looted bonds of Sinclair, it will be interesting to note the reactions of party leaders, press and voters.
How many of them will retch in their stomachs over the unsavory and smutty revelations?

Borah has spoken his slowly-awakened indignation, Capper has suddenly gone amuck against the infamies, and several of the insur-gent's are using "Joab blades under the ribs of the principal offenders;
but the country is curiously waiting to hear what Hoover and Curtis and Willis and Lowden and Watson, aspirants for Coolidge's seat, have to say about teapots and Elk Hills.

An ancient principle was that the king can do no wrong." Are we now to have it demonstrated in our free, self-governing democracy that "the republican party can do no wrong?"

We have come perilously near to that in the past.

The chief and overshadowing question in this campaign of 1928 will be whether a corruptible party can retain the government it has betrayed and disgraced.

If it turns out that it can do that, by the consent of the people expressed by their ballots, then popular probity and honest government will have gone into an ominous eclipse.

Florida is receiving more than a million dollars a month from its tax on gasoline. That's $145 per mile income on each of its 7,000 miles of paved roads, or $1,740 a year.
Good roads are an investment—not an expense.

Nothing more has been heard from Mussolini's threat to Tyrol.
Maybe he has cut out the poison gas.

Houston has no control over a deadlock in the convention, but assures the country that it will exercise its right to use the padlock
during the convention.

The government has issued a pamphlet telling how to make a fireless cooker. Why the plans and specifications? Just marry a domestic science student.

Sometimes we are inclined to believe that professional reformers are simply extracting the pie out of the pie.

So far no rail-splitter has thrown his bat into the ring, but the rail-splitters are cooking up issues for the campaign.

The Pullman company's net earnings the past eight months has been $13,000,000. The porters probably cleaned up a like amount.

There is a considerable falling off in the sale of moth balls. The moths would starve to death on what is stored away by the women.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Dreiser, Skirts And Acoustics.

In the Cafe du Dome in Montparnasse, where the neo-futurists and the surrealists in art and literature sit for many hours over one glass of beer and where the atmosphere is thick with tobacco smoke and "Zukunft-Musik," the name of Dreiser was hurled across the floor by two opposing corners of young French literates, when I dropped in one morning around 1 o'clock recently. The bug of conversation stopped and innumerable other debates in other corners were suspended as one young fellow with the distinctive mark of the anti-Saints of the Quartier Latin, advanced to the middle of the floor and screamed: "You say Dreiser is terrible. Very well, mon ami, so is a sledge hammer terrible, but we need it to forge the steel!" He accompanied his words by a ringing gavel.
When he shattered into a thousand fragments. There was a moment's silence, when a hubub broke out in another direction. This time a couple of musicians were having a setto. One of them maintained, in all seriousness, that since the adoption of extremely soft skinning, concert halls have become defective. "The old skirts should come back," he shouted,
"because art is suffering. The old skirts had the aesthetics virtues that we lack at the present time!"

Ghostly

Mom.

An ecclesiastical ghost haunts the abbey that lies behind the pleasant gardens of the Boulevard Sébastopol.
The building has been a museum since the days of the revolution when the churches were closed and turned into temples to the "Godless and Reasoned" or demolished. In the abbey of the Grande Chartreuse the year the monks were unceremoniously chased away. The books of the library were stored in the attics and in the basements, where both places were filled or rather of carrying the monk-cultivators of art, carried off in boxes and cartons, never to return.
The shopkeepers of the neighborhood seized upon this providential supply of wrapping paper and carted it off. Just at the moment when ragpickers and pick-a-vendor of the neighborhood were quarreling over a particularly heavy load, a monk of Saint Martin came back upon the scene and pleaded to be given the book. One of the ragpickers took up a stone and struck the monk over the head. He died and his body was left in the street for a whole week,
while the monks of the abbey trudged to haul the old sibyll and to explore the piles of moth-eaten, mildewed manuscripts in the attic and in the cellar.
The night-guardian of the museum has informed the police of the nocturnal monks. Two inspectors of the Sûreté had been called in to search the corner where the monk was hidden.
Now, whether it was because the old wine in a little cabinet round the corner was half empty or because the monk was dead, the inspectors did not find him. They took up the sole ray of an electric pocket lamp got on their nerves is not known, but the inspectors say they saw the monk.
What they say, we will see.

What's still more, when one of the policemen fired a revolver at close range the bullet went right through the monk, and he did not even look up at the sound of the shot.

La Baker

In Vienna.

A story of Vienna's confusion with hyper-modern "Jazz-Rhythm" seemed to be rising steadily as the day approached when Josephine Baker, dusky Parisian-American Charleston queen, was to appear in the Johann Strauss theater. Judging by reports in the Viennese press La Baker's presence was the subject of heated discussions in the streets of the capital and even parliament. "Hausen-Kreuzler," the gentlemen, who have not been heard from since they tried to mob the Zionist congress in Vienna, in 1925, went about tearing down posters on which Josephine was shown in the famous posture of the moon. One deputy parliament fulminated against posters on which blacks were shown in natura.

Man is a creature of habit. So when the police had decided to let her go, now, whether it was because the dangerous trifling with hubub obscured the restoration of our republican system to its original dual complex. They have cooperated to produce the present confusion. They have jointly operated the centrifugal forces that have made federalism
and statehood a thing of the past.
Nor is the secret society offering to attempt the restoration of our

It is, however, to quote con-constitution in its efforts to regulate the railroads.

RADIO-ING² The Air Waves.

BY THE DIAL TWISTER.

Trader Horn, that grand old man of Africa, Tuesday night told the American radio audience over the NBC chain much of his experiences and life on the west coast of Africa. And didn't even begin to touch the great well of his memory.

The Eveready hour, during which he appeared, was arranged as a dramatized radio play, an episode in Trader Horn's life. During the drama Trader Horn himself spoke several times into the microphone as the actors unfolded the story they had to tell.

The west coast of Africa in 1871, a hotbed of piracy, ivory trade, elephant hunters, tigers, tropical Africa, Africa the grave of the white man, the Africa of Trader Horn. Here opens the dramatic story of Nius T., and Trader Horn, Nius T., white goddess of Africa.

Trader Horn, himself, tells of leaving England. As his ship leaves the dock, the old sea chantey "Blow the Man Down" rings out. His early work on the coast, his learning of the business of ivory trading.

Trader Horn, himself, begins his great adventure then told us, in his own words, of elephants and ivory, of his first elephant kill. The first gorilla he shot, he told us, was a female. Little ones were left motherless, "murdered in the first degree." I swear I would never shoot another female. And I did not."

On up the river, young Trader Horn comes to a village and hears of the living white goddess. He is initiated into the rites of this savage cannibal tribe and he sees the beautiful Nius T., the daughter of an Englishman.

Young Trader Horn comes to steal Nius T. If she is willing, and rescue her from the savages. He contrives to meet her and together they lay careful plans. They succeed and reach mouth of the river, safe from all pursuit. Little Peru, colleague of young Trader Horn, aids him and falls in love with Nius. And all's well that ends well.

The first long distance phonograph recording was accomplished Tuesday when Dolores Del Rio from her home in Hollywood sang "Ramona" and had it recorded in New York by the Columbia Phonograph company. The feat was an introduction to the Dodge Brothers' movie broadcast Thursday night in a giant hookup from studio to Pacific. Miss Del Rio will sing this number during the movie program. More about the Dodge Brothers great feature "Thunderstorm."

After so much static during the last two stormy nights, the Dial Twister

FEATURE PROGRAMS ON AIR WEDNESDAY

10:30 p. m.—New York Dances Music—WEAF, KSD, WHO.

hesitated to say much about the Stromberg-Carlon hour, which was scheduled for Tuesday night. Well, folks, static wasn't too bad Tuesday night, but "old faithful," KDKA, where we get "old faithful," Stromberg-Carlon hour at 7 o'clock, just wasn't "perking" for a reason unknown.

However, good news has been announced to the thousands in Atlanta who listen in on this feature every Tuesday night. The Stromberg-Carlon hour will join the chain features being broadcast by WSB and, in coming south, the Stromberg-Carlon hour, with orchestra and the quartet, will gain many thousands more of listeners. The hour will start coming to Atlanta next week.

And for tonight!

The Ipana Troubadours will bring us music from "Connie Mack's Yankies"; "Laurel"; Vocal chorus off the Moon"; "In the Sweet Bye and Bye"; and "Little Mother." The Troubadours is a unit which is gaining in popularity and its appearance always calls for a hearty welcome.

The Variety hour over KDKA and the blue chain at 8 o'clock must be a terrific pleasure variety being the spice of life those who listen are assured of plenty spice. Joe Green and his Marimba Band, the Utica Jubilee Singers, an operatic tenor, a contralto, many instrumental soloists, a baritone and a soprano are only a part of the featured tonight.

Yesterdays' news items come to us who dial in WSB at 9:30 o'clock tonight. It will be performed in tabloid by the National Grand Opera ensemble.

The federal radio commission swing the federal radio commission swing sixteen new stations were granted increases in power of from 1,000 watts to 3,500 watts. New stations in the 5,000-watt class, under Tuesday's increases, will be KFJF, Oklahoma City, KVOC, Tulsa, WMC, and WLAC, Nashville, and stations which now may use 1,000 watts are: WPTE, Raleigh, N. C.; WDAG, Amarillo, Texas, and KPCB, Houston.

New stations will include two in Georgia, R. E. Martin, Columbus, 50 watts, and Kent's Furniture store, Tifton, 20 watts. All the sixteen new stations were licensed to go on the air. The action is the first step toward establishment of an equal allocation of stations in the five broadcasting zones.

KWKB, Shreveport, La., probably the fiercest attacker of the radio commission, has been granted an increase of from 1,000 watts to 3,500 watts.

Under Tuesday's increases, will be KFJF, Oklahoma City, KVOC, Tulsa, WMC, and WLAC, Nashville, and stations which now may use 1,000 watts are: WPTE, Raleigh, N. C.; WDAG, Amarillo, Texas, and KPCB, Houston.

New stations will include two in Georgia, R. E. Martin, Columbus, 50

watts, and Kent's Furniture store, Tifton, 20 watts. All the sixteen new stations will operate on a power of 250 watts or less, mostly less. No station was granted more power than 5,000 watts.

Now let's see if interference will increase—or if the commission has been able to get around this some way. We feel that many stations will have to come off the air to make way for more power in the south, but we may be wrong.

JUGGERNAUT

By Alice Campbell

SYNOPSIS.
Esther Rowe, a young nurse, having accompanied an invalid from the United States to Cannes on the Riviera, is about to return to New York when she sees an advertisement in the paper for a doctor and his assistant and she decides to apply for the job in order to earn a little money to get home.

While waiting for an answer to her application to Dr. Sartorius, Esther treats herself to tea at the fashionable Restaurant des Ambassadeurs. She becomes interested in the conversation of a beautiful French woman and her escort, an Englishman, who all at once turn up. One comes to her hotel. Esther takes a note from the doctor asking her to report in the morning.

The beautiful French woman of the restaurant comes to see Dr. Sartorius and Esther learns that she is Lady Clifford. A few days later her husband, Sir Charles Clifford, arrives in Cannes. Roger, the doctor's assistant, gives up his work and later goes to work to devote himself exclusively to Sir Charles. Esther is taken on the case as day nurse.

Roger Clifford, Sir Charles' only son, arrives in Cannes. Sir Charles tells his son that he has given his will to the man of his choice and that he wants him to take care of the whole estate. Roger is attracted to Esther and invites her to dine and dance with him. They go to one of the fashionable restaurants in Cannes.

On returning to the house Roger comes upon his stepmother in the darkness, drawing room curtains. Roger has been paying Lady Clifford some attention. Roger orders Holliday to leave the house.

The next day Sir Charles breaks the news to his wife that he has named his son executor of his estate in his will. Lady Clifford flies into a rage.

Shortly afterwards Roger complains of a headache, and his aunt, Miss Clifford, offers him one of her own pills. In her haste she误lays the doctor's hypodermic needle, which he has just used on Sir Charles. The doctor is unmercifully angry with her over this carelessness. Two days later Sir Charles dies. Esther is called to the scene, but before she leaves she gets the report from the chemist that the hypodermic needle contained typhoid germs. As she is about to warn Roger she is attacked and taken from the room unconscious. Some time later she awakes to find herself in Dr. Sartorius' laboratory. The doctor and Holliday come in and Esther falls unconscious.

INSTALLMENT LI.
Discovered.

What sound was that? The noise of ringing. Was it within her own brain? No, thought Esther, surely not, it was the bell down stairs, a loud, persistent peal. Not the telephone, no, it must be the front door bell.

An annoyed exclamation came from the doctor.

"I'll have to answer that, it won't do to leave it."

A little later as the needle was laid down, then the retreating steps of both men, out of the room. The door closed, the key turned mechanically. Esther could hear the doctor's heavy steps lumbering all the way down to the bottom floor, while she fancied Holliday remained on the stairs.

Reluctantly she opened her eyes and moved her cramped limbs a little. What difference could it make now if she knew she had been awake? On the table at her side she saw the hypodermic syringe, fully charged, lying beside a glass of water. She stared at them fascinated.

Suddenly an idea came to her, the wildest idea conceivable, not one chance in a million of its succeeding, yet now in the face of extinction anything was worth trying. She had nothing to lose. Quick as lightning she seized the needle, squirted its contents on the floor back of the bed, then she slipped the needle back into the tumbler. She laid it down again exactly where it had been before, looked to see that there were no drops spilled. Then, once more she lay down, trying with meticulous care to resume her old posture.

She lay still and counted, to keep from going mad. One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, slowly still, so as to make sixty counts equal a minute. One never could do that, one always went too fast. She had counted three sixteen when the front door closed below and returning footsteps mounted the stairs. One flight, two flights . . . the key rasped, the boards creaked, she heard Sartorius say.

"You see now, that is the sort of thing one must be prepared for. Suppose no one had been here?" Those words would have gone back to the agent's and got a key, or else some fellow from the office would come back with them to show them the house. Just the same I want you to telephone the estate office that I've changed my mind about subtlety."

He was now at her side. Would he notice anything wrong?

"She's about to come to. I thought that dose wouldn't last long."

She heard him pick up the needle. Now, what was happening? Was he examining it?

An agonizing pain in her upper arm reassured her. She was prepared for it to hurt worse than ordinary injection, plain water did. She bore the torture without a quiver, holding her breath until she heard the door close again.

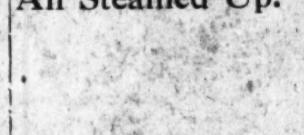

The tap ran. Esther knew that he was methodically washing out the bottle that contained the deadly culture. Another hour, perhaps less, and no power could save Roger from a torturing death, not even the certainty of what had caused it. Once an invisible hand in the villainous staff penetrated the raw tissues of the wound it would work its way straight into the bloodstream. Soon, very soon, afterwards the jaw muscles would begin to stiffen!

"Come, I have no time to lose. Lock the door behind you."

The light was snatched off, the door closed. She lay alone once more, this time, in almost complete darkness. Again she trained her ears upon the retreating steps, afraid yet to move her cramped muscles. The punctured arm throbbed and smarted painfully, every nerve in her body was stretched like a fiddle string. Finally, far below, sounded the door's slam, a moan.

As she is about to warn Roger she is attacked and taken from the room unconscious. Some time later she awakes to find herself in Dr. Sartorius' laboratory. The doctor and Holliday come in and Esther falls unconscious.

First, crossing the floor on flip-flops she shone on the light. She was afraid to do this, but it was necessary, and the chances were that Holliday could not spy the tell-tale crack of light that would show under the door without coming to the enclosed well of the staircase. Next she climbed upon her chair again and unpinned the curtain. When the curtain was in the dust, she pinned it again, but it seemed failing to hold when it was done. She began to think it would mean everything to get outside the house, whether she were injured or not. She had at least the chance of attracting some passer-by's attention before Holliday could discover she was gone and drag her back to her prison. Gathering up her lead pencil she dashed off a hurried sketch of whatever gave the drip-drip of the tap in the corner. Laboriously she climbed to the top of the table, patted the nearest chair up after her, planted it firmly beside her. Then she examined the skylight once more, deciding that she were open she could manage to get her body through the central section provided she had the strength to hold her up that high.

With infinite caution she undid the bap and pushed it aside. She was terrified lest the rusty, scratchy sound should penetrate to the lower floors. She shot out the iron rod to its full extent and fastened it, then started to search for something to which she could secure the end of her rope. There was a wooden shelf against the wall supported by iron brackets. Perhaps the iron brackets would serve, though she was afraid that her weight pulling suddenly upon it would tear out the screws from the plaster. There was nothing else close enough, she must trust to its holding firm. She made fast the rope's end, then with haste but noiselessly removed the row of bottles from the shelf and setting them down on the table beneath. She must get them out of the way for it would be necessary for her to step upon the shelf in order to climb up to the opening, there being nowhere else to set her foot. Five, six, seven bottles she put down. The eighth, a small one, had an uneven bottom. Before she could lay hold of it it overbalanced, rolled over and over towards the table's edge. She tried to stop it, but could not reach it in time. Before her agonized eyes it fell to the floor with a loud, clear "ping."

Her heart in her mouth, she stood for one petrified moment rooted to the spot. Was it really over? The answer came immediately. There was a sudden, loud clatter of footsteps, leaping headlong towards the laboratory stairs, charging full upon her. Like a flash it came her that discovered or not she must get out of the skylight now, now, or it would be late, she must stop for nothing. She sprang up, hurried, hurried the rope from the openings, and just in time the door burst open for the final blow when the door burst open and Holliday, wild-eyed, confronted her.

"Stop!"

After turning the snarls of the Clemson Tigers into grins last week, the Yellow Jackets of Georgia Tech are being groomed for the invasion of the Stormy Petrels of Oglethorpe, who come to the flats Friday and Saturday.

The practices this week have consisted of "games" mostly. In playing regular games the whole squad seems to get more out of the work-outs, so believes the mentors, and as the result nine-inning affairs are in vogue at Tech.

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

Sluggers.

It seems quite certain that Stiles Attaway and T. Billiards will fight again in Atlanta. All the little matter such as the cash involved have been ironed out and T. Billiards—the "T" may stand for three-cushion—will come here to avenge what he has always regarded as a slippery decision lost to Attaway here a few months ago.

Not having seen that fight, we are not qualified to pass on the justice of the verdict, but we have seen both Billiards and Attaway fight and do not hesitate to suggest that there will be more slugging than boxing in the arena at the auditorium on the night of April 6.

No one has every accused Stiles Attaway of being a cautious boxer, or, for that matter, any kind of a boxer except a green one. But the former Georgia Power company boy WILL fight any time you put him in the ring with an opponent. His boxing is improving under the tutelage of Eddie Hanlon, once a master of the art himself.

In Billiards one finds the same type. Perhaps a bit better defensive boxer than Attaway, but lacking in kick what he possesses in sparring ability. The fans will notice without regret that the length of the bout will be 12 rounds rather than the usual 10-stanza dance.

Picking a Winner.

If someone wants to gain fame in a comparatively short space of time it is not necessary to fly the Atlantic, Pacific or even Lake Burton. All one must do is pick a winner in the National and American leagues for 1928.

If one were to set about doing this there would be one definitely superior course to follow. Watch the selections of all the experts and then pick another winner. Last season it is easy to remember how most of the experts said the Yanks would not finish much above the top of the second division. You know the answer. Most of the wise birds did hit the nail when they said the Athletics would be contenders, but until late in the season when the A's stepped out in a winning streak that prediction bid fair to go the way of most predictions.

This season the consensus of opinion seems to favor the Yanks and Athletics again in the American and names fives or six teams in the senior loop. Most of the wise guys leave the Detroit Tigers near the bottom of the first division, or fail to mention them at all. Detroit would not be a bad pick for the gentleman who believes the experts are wrong.

Course Conditions.

Every day now casual observation will show that the golf courses of Atlanta are slowly, but surely, recovering from the blight of a severe cold snap at New Year's. During late January and early February we played Druid Hills, East Lake, Capital City, Ansley Park and Ingleside, but found the greens in horrible shape at each place. In most cases the summer greens were being played because the winter greens were almost unplayable.

Just the few rainy days during the past few weeks have made a world of difference at all of the courses. Druid Hills early this week showed more than a dozen of the 18 greens in fairly advanced stages of recovery. Topsoil makes them a bit hard to putt on but the topsoil is a necessity.

At East Lake the same is true, but the Druid Hills fairways are a bit better at present because of the sheltered nature of the course. Capital City greens still show the ravages of the winter, but are progressing as rapidly as any of the rest.

Ansley Park is spotty. Some of the greens at this little course are better than any others in town and some carpets will take many weeks yet to recover. The same may be said of Ingleside. Sheltered greens are in good condition, but exposed tracts are very bad.

All this is leading up to the general statement which is of interest to all the golfers of the city. The severe freezes of the past winter will not serve to hurt the courses materially for a whole year. Naturally their progress will be slower, but by the middle of June or first of July the results of the bitter January weather will be practically obliterated.

Add Warren Wins.

Charlotte, N. C., March 27.—(AP) Addison Warren, Chapel Hill, N. C., heavyweight, won a ten-round decision over Johnny Mack, Cincinnati, in the national guard boxing show here tonight. On the aggressive stand, Warren easily won each round. A furious assault in the final round failed to raise the Ohioan from his covered crouch, however, and there were no knockdowns.

Malon Courts Puts Out Mooney in Exciting Match by 9-11, 8-6, 6-2.

Constitution Staff Correspondent.
Atlanta, Ga., March 27.—As the rays of a March sun tonight bid farewell to the scene of combat in the South, the cracklers of the national career showed the names of Malon Courts and Bryan Grant, of Atlanta, standing out in bold relief on that portion of the scoreboard held for the victors while in that other section reserved as a trophy for those who fought nobly and lost.

Shane Smity, left hander with Atlanta this year, worked under McAllister's direction last season. McAllister is of the opinion that Sherry is still good enough for the big-time. "He has plenty of good games left in him," he said.

Sherry, right-hander, is a good pitcher in old Smity.

Jim Poole came up to take his turn during batting practice. "Say, now," averred McAllister, "there's a guy that can sure hit."

"But it's going to be a hard race to the Southern title year after year," he said. "If I can't find his position better than most pitchers and he can hit, Atlanta certainly got a good pitcher in old Smity."

Cracker Regulars Look Good In 6-1 Victory

The Easter Parade is on at Muse's

You can always see how Atlanta's Easter Parade is going to look by looking in Muse's the two weeks before Easter.

This is where the Parade begins . . . (and the march has started!)

April 8 will be this gay city's most fashionable Easter!

Clothes for man were never so good-looking. The Suits and Top-coats run to gentlemanly patterns . . . they are handsome, distinguished—and finely tailored.

Furnishings flash color—harmonious color—that brings out the suit, and the man.

Hats are chosen to go with the suit. Wearing "a new Hat" isn't the whole story!

If your suit is gray, your Hat is a definite tone of gray that goes with your particular suit—

If your suit is brown, your hat is lighter brown; and so on—

And so with shoes—

The result of this harmony is—you show up better than you ever thought you could look!

And it's just that that is to make this Easter Atlanta's most fashionable time!

The thing is easily accomplished—a man doesn't have to study it—it works automatically for him—

1-Select your Muse Suit.

2-Take the vest to the Hat Department, the Furnishings Department, the Shoe Department—

Zoeller Gets 5 Hits in Five Times at Bat

Bert Uses All of His Regulars in One Lineup; Combination Shows Power.

BY BEN COOTHRAH.

Those who braved Tuesday's chilling breeze to sit in the wind-swept stands at Spiller's and watch a yannigan-regular tilt saw a lineup take the field for the regulars that will probably take the field many times during the coming season.

Zoeller, West and Strand were in the outfield, Gilbert, Jones, Rhiel and Poole comprised the infield. And it looked very good, this combination did. It whipped the yannigans—which is the thing to do now-days in the Cracker camp—by 6-1 and compiled 14 hits in so doing. Two of them were of the extra-base variety, Art Olson, pitcher, and Frankie Zoeller doubling in succession.

The regulars fielded well, making no errors of any kind, and getting 14 of the things. They all hit well.

Frankie Zoeller was the star of the day on the hitting side. He made five appearances at the plate and hit safely five times, which made the day for him indeed. He singled to center, doubled to right, dropped a Texas leadoff back of single to left and sent a stinging grounder through the box to get his fifth hit.

Afield, Jimmy Jones, new shortstop who bled in Monday, shone most brilliantly. He cleared the running distance between second and third bases to pick up grounders, catch pop flies and make eight put-outs. He took part in one double play, acting as pivot man, the play reading Rhiel to Jones to Poole.

The yannigans failed to score more than one run an inning, and the first, skipping the second, and pushing one across in every inning except the eighth.

Tuesday's game gave some idea of the regulars team, and it looked very good. Whether or not Rhiel will play again hasn't been decided, and probably he won't until it is definitely known if Chuck Corgan will be here or not. If he is, that will send Billy back to the outfield and Bert will have the problem on his hands then of deciding whose place Billy will take.

Practice Game.

Another practice game is on the books for this afternoon. Thursday the club drops down to Macon for a game with the Peaches, Macon's entrant in the South Atlantic league.

Returning home Thursday night the team will meet the team at the Atlanta Joint Terminal at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon with proceeds to be turned over to the Scottish Rite hospital.

While the Cracker regulars are in Macon the yannigans will play the New York Giant scrub team at the dome all of 1926, and during this year was shelved for some time with a broken leg.

WEST END—"The Woman on Trial."

Keith's Georgia.

One of the biggest shows of the season is the Henry Santry surprise at Keith's Georgia. With an orchestra of 22 musicians and a fast moving stage show working in front of it there is no moment wasted. Every act and number goes by like electricity. The Hawaiian guitar player and the harpist who plays syncopated time. On the screen is Billie Dove in "The Heart of a Follies Girl."

Capitol.

Heading another great stage and screen bill at the Capitol theater this week, Jimmie Hodges is proving more popular than ever with the capacity audiences which are thronging the theater to see the noted musical comedy favorite. Louis Glimmerglass, famous siren of the screen, heads a big vaudeville bill of three acts which also includes Wilkins and Wilkins, a seemingly funny comedy duo and Lottie Atherton, dance artist. On the screen this week is "Soft Living," featuring Madge Bellamy and Johnny Mack Brown, former football star for the University of Alabama.

Lowell's Grand.

Lowell's Grand theater this week is offering a vaudeville bill with three great headline attractions and a double picture bill, all these features constituting one of the biggest programs ever offered here. On the vaudeville bill is "Freeborn's Follies," Arts Gillham, famous "Whispering Pianist" of Columbia recording fame, the comedies skit of Leo Kelly. The feature picture this week is "Bringing Up Father," and the special picture is "40,000 Miles With Lindbergh."

Howard.

Richard Barthelmes can be seen at the Howard this week in "The Patent Leather Kid," which is acclaimed by all as the best thing the popular young star has ever done. He is ably supported by a coming star, Molly Young. "The Patent Leather Kid" enjoyed long runs in New York, Chicago, and Detroit and is being shown in Atlanta for the first time at popular prices. The enormous crowds attending the Howard Monday and Tuesday proved that the Howard patrons appreciate the merit of this great picture.

Rialto.

If a "stampede of cattle" brings to your mind a western picture, you haven't seen "The Gaucho." For who could hear this phrase, having seen "The Gaucho," and not have surge over him the thrill of thundering hoofs screening the mad charge of a hundred fierce fighting men at a time?

FLOODED RIVERS SLOWLY REcede

San Francisco, March 27.—(P)—Flooded rivers in California were gradually receding tonight while hundreds of men worked to reinforce levees on three fronts in a battle against the waning thrusts of the swollen streams, fed by a week of steady rain and melting snows in the high Sierras.

The three fronts still regarded as "danger spots" were at Alicia on the Feather river; Marysville on the Yuba, and at Duskin land colony on Butte creek, all in the northern part of the state. Bogs of sand were thrown up against the strained levees by large groups of workers.

Conditions Better.

Improved conditions were reported elsewhere except in the far northeastern part of the state, where the Pit river broke over its banks an' flooded Alturas, a town of 1,000. No loss of life was reported, but damage was heavy. Roads were used to transport marronaded villagers. Several buildings, including the postoffice, were inundated.

The weather bureau sent out an assurance that "the storm is over" and efforts were largely concentrated tonight in checking up the damage and making repairs where possible.

Rains Are Feared.

In Reno, Nev., on the Truckee river, the water was reported better, although still potentially dangerous, should heavy rains again occur. The town was inundated over a large area but the danger was considered past. The Boca dam above the city was holding with no signs of weakening.

Spinach and alfalfa were the crops accounted for a heavy loss. Canning factories in a few places were temporarily closed. By tomorrow, officials in charge of restoration work said, the water should be back to normal in most of the streams.

rounding out a sixth week in Atlanta, where pictures before have barely stood the test of a single week. Al Jolson's "The Jazz Singer" continues its engagement this week at the Metropolitan, after having the most phenomenal success ever scored by a picture in the Gate City. The picture is great, and is aided by Vitaphone accompaniment of music and Jolson's songs.

West End.

Pola Negri, in a role superbly suited to her exotic temperament, is due to win many plaudits through her fine performance in "The Woman on Trial," which plays at the West End today.

Palace.

The old boys with young ideas! That's the idea of "Two Flaming Youths," the first vehicle Paramount selected for its new comedy team—W. C. Fields and Chester Conklin—which shows at the Palace today.

Alamo No. 2.

At last Nazimova is to be seen on the screen in one of the great Ibsen plays in which she first gained recognition as our foremost English-speaking actress. She has adapted Henrik Ibsen's "A Doll's House" and will appear in it at the Alamo No. 2 later today.

Empire.

Today brings to the screen of the new and beautiful Empire theater, at Georgia avenue and Crew street, the ever-lovable Bebe Daniels in "Swim, Girl, Swim!" Bebe goes into the water in this picture.

ILL MOTHER ABLE TO RECEIVE VISITS FROM FIRST LADY

Northampton, Mass., March 27.—(P)—The condition of Mrs. Elmira Goodhue, 78, mother of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, who is critically ill at the Dickinson hospital here, remained unchanged throughout the day, her personal physician, Dr. J. E. Hayes, announced tonight. The mind of the aged patient remained clear and she was able to converse with Mrs. Coolidge, who arrived from Washington early today.

The telegram and the postcards are now in the hands of L. C. Warren, sheriff of Ware county, by whom they are being held as evidence.

In referring to the alienation of affection suit she has filed against Mrs. E. P. Walker, of Waycross, Mrs. Young, who is stopping with her sister at 24 Washington street, S. E., affirmed her belief that Mr. Walker, the pastor, had been a constant visitor to Covington, Ky., and letters and telegrams received at Waycross indicated.

"I am told that my husband and Mrs. Walker were seen in Atlanta on the very day the woman's relatives in the hills came to town," Mrs. Young said. "I understand that congress with act in accordance with the committee's recommendations."

The appropriation is said to represent a large measure the proposed bill, which A. V. A. members to have the proposed appropriation of $350,000 substantially increased. The larger amount will provide for hospital facilities of 200 beds in addition to what is already in Atlanta, Mr. Tate remarked.

Have you tried this wonderful loaf of richer bread?

SO MANY people are changing to Southern Bread! Even those who have been most insistent on making their own at home. For they find Southern Bread so tender and delicious, so fresh and so rich—so exactly what they and their children want in bread, that the trouble and cost and risk of home baking seem no longer worth while.

Southern Bread is made with the ingredients you yourself would buy. You can buy them at your grocer's—the same shortening, the same yeast, the same beautifully white flour. But probably even you are not in the habit of lavishing so much milk on your bread as goes into Southern Bread. That is what makes it so rich.

Your grocer receives a fresh supply twice every day. Try this bread that everybody likes.

Recipes for Bad Complexions and Wrinkles

Of all the beauty recipes that have been tried, here are two that have successfully stood the test of time.

For Bad Complexions . . . Pure mineralized wax, applied at night like cold cream, causes the wretched scar skin to come off in tiny flakes, until the fresh young under skin is really exposed. If the skin is not smooth with wrinkles, freckles, pimples or other blemishes, these defects are discarded with the skin itself.

Wrinkle Remover . . . One ounce powdered alum dissolved in one-half pint warm water. Use as an emollient. Add dried and decocted flowers—(adv.)

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Scrapper Is Good-Natured. Good-nature often smooths the way and brightness lends a gloomy day. Old Mother Nature.

Peter Rabbit was as good as his word. He went straight over to that part of the Old Orchard where he knew he would find Scrapper the Kingbird. When he found Scrapper he told him that Bobby Coon wanted to see him.

"What does he want to see me for?" demanded Scrapper suspiciously.

"He didn't tell me, but I suspect he wants to know something about those cousins of his that you saw during the winter," replied Peter.

"So that's it! Bobby has as much curiosity as you have," said Scrapper, "I don't know whether I shall gratify him."

Peter opened his mouth to urge Scrapper to go meet Bobby Coon, but closed it again without saying a word. He didn't want to appear to have too much interest in the matter.

Presently Scrapper caught three or four fat flies in succession. As each one went down his throat he felt better and better. A few more people are like Scrapper in that good-naturedness seems to live in their stomachs. A comfortable stomach means a good-natured person. So when there appeared to be no more fat flies to catch, Scrapper, without a word, flew away.

Peter watched Scrapper go. Then Peter started off, lippety-lippety-lip, straight in the direction of the place where he had left Bobby Coon. Scrapper had gone in that same direction.

It didn't take Scrapper long to find Bobby Coon. You see, Bobby was sitting right in plain sight. Scrapper alighted on a branch just above Bobby. "Hello, Bobby Coon!" exclaimed Scrapper. "What do you want to see me about?"

"Who says I want to see you?" demanded Bobby Coon.

"Oh," replied Scrapper airily. "I just have a feeling you do. You see I know your family rather well. In my travels I've seen something of several of them. So I have a feeling that you want to see me."

Bobby Coon had it on the tip of his tongue to say that he didn't want to see Scrapper at all. But that would not have been true and he knew it.

Moreover, Scrapper's reference to the members of Bobby's family whom he had seen in his travels made Bobby fairly ache all over with jealousy. "Do you ever act that way? It is a most uncomfortable feeling. There are many worse aches than the ache caused by ungratified curiosity, but I don't know of any less easy to forget."

"Pooh!" exclaimed Bobby. "I don't believe it."

"What you believe, or what you don't believe, makes no difference

Sponsors Book Day.

A golden opportunity is offered Atlanta horticulturists to purchase plants and shrubs suitable to the climate and soil of this section at the annual plant sale given Wednesday morning under the auspices of the Peachtree Garden club at 973 Peachtree street, with Mrs. Roy Dorsey, chairman, and Mrs. Evelyn Harris, co-chairman.

One of the most successful and important factors in gardening is the buying of plants which are certain to grow and give satisfactory results. Members of the Peachtree Garden club have cultivated scientifically and with extreme care the following variety of plants: Delphinium, Canterbury bells, feverfew, pansies, phlox, subulata, sweetwillow, sweet rocket, foxglove, ragged robin and stockseed. Horticulturists will also be able to purchase bulbs of golden-horned lilies of Japan, known as nartanum, and pink lily bulbs, as well as every variety of iris. Blooming shrubs, mimosa trees, vine sand cut flowers, serviceable garden tools and garden gloves will also be sold Wednesday morning.

Mesdames Alice Thornton, Mrs. Cam Dorsey, Henry Newman, Jessie Draper, Phinizy Calhoun, Malcolm Kirk Devore, will furnish the music.

Coolidge Interested
In Establishment
Of Great Smoky Park

Raleigh, N. C., March 27.—(P.)—President Calvin Coolidge is "especially interested in the project to establish a national park in the Great Smoky mountains," he said in a letter to Governor McLean received today, disclosing that the president will remain in Washington at least through the first week of June.

The president thanked the governor for his invitation to attend the Rhododendron festival in Asheville during the week of June 4 to 9, but said he could not get away from Washington at that time.

The president's letter read: "I very much appreciate your cordial invitation to attend the Rhododendron festival to be held in the city of Asheville June 4-9. It would be a pleasure to you and especially interesting in the project to establish a national park in the Great Smoky mountains, which you say is to be a place in the celebration. But it will be quite out of the question for me to think of getting away from Washington at that time."

The Day in Finance

BY
R. L. BARNUM

New York, March 27.—Newcomers in the stock market who have been piling up paper profits in the great bull stock market starting at the beginning of this month learned today the sickness and kind of happy powers falling out of the market. For the hour or so there was so much excitement, with the air so filled with dust and splinters that even old timers were not certain what had happened. By noon, however, the conclusion was made that there had been a highly successful day out of the big outside public in some of the speculative favorites of the past three weeks.

Steel Common closed last night at 150 1-8 in the first 4,000,000 shares ever traded on the stock exchange, following eleven consecutive five-hour sessions of over 2,000,000 shares. Today's opening on Steel Common was 151. Chrysler opened 1 1/4 points higher at 72 3/4, Hudson 1 point higher at 99 3/4. Radio 1 1/2 points higher at 157 1-2. Cudway stock stood in customer rooms of stock exchanges, however, confident that the higher opening of these and other stocks meant another day of accumulating paper profits.

General Motors, in the wildest day's trading ever witnessed, closed last night at 198 3-4 with 840,000 shares changing hands, with a range between a price range of 193 1-2 and 200. And with holders confidently expecting to get in the very near future the 225 predicted by Chairman Raskob of General Motors, at the close of last week before sailing for Europe. In the last hour yesterday there was a temporary lull, however, while it was thought General Motors would not get General Motors to 200 and above. Despite the higher opening this morning of Steel, Hudson, Radio, Chrysler, Studebaker and other stocks, General Motors was down 3-2 to 198. This disappointment, together with the return of General Motors to 200 yesterday, started some selling which for the first two or three minutes was not heavy. By five minutes after 10 o'clock, with General Motors appearing on the tape at a fraction below its opening, the news was received from the stock exchange that Peter G. Fisher of General Motors was selling in the floor at 194, starting one of the heaviest waves of selling ever experienced in the history of Wall street.

Traders with paper profits have been protecting themselves in the recent wild market by placing so-called stop-loss orders, that is, selling orders placed at a fixed, lower price to be executed in case of a sudden decline. In the same manner, they have been placing in the first few minutes of trading this morning the first line of these stop loss was reached, bringing about price declines which automatically touched off remaining stop-loss orders. In the first few minutes the tape dropped five minutes behind trading and extended to 194, off, on a shade to 1-2c down, and provisions varying from 2c decline to a rise of 12c.

Crop Reports Due.

Monthly unofficial crop reports due next week received the bulk of attention from wheat traders today during late dealings. It was current gossip that these reports would have a bushel impact, and there was considerable buying based on this circumstance. Large as a result, the market finished higher for all deliveries except May.

Earlier, however, prices most of the time were lower, influenced by weakness of Liverpool quotations and by slackness of export demand for wheat from North America, as well as by a general lack of over domestic wheat.

March delivery of wheat displayed comparative strength throughout the day. This was ascribed to efforts to even up accounts on the part of traders who were short of wheat to fill contracts that expire before April 1.

Decrease Announced.

A decrease of 2,442,000 bushels in the world's available stock was announced.

Bull weather for the movement of corn had a decided bullish effect on the corn market early, but was partly counterbalanced later by wheat strength. North American available supplies of corn decreased 1,398,000 bushels for the week, and 417,130,000 bushels against 51,213,000 bushels a year ago. Oats prices followed mainly the action of corn.

Provisions had no pronounced trend, lard being easy and meats firm.

Fluctuations Shake Off the Little Outside Fellow—Motors Ride a Pogo Stick All Day — Stop-Loss Orders Throw Quantity of Shares Into Market and Act as Further Depression.

Stock market who have been piling up paper profits in the great bull stock market starting at the beginning of this month learned today the sickness and kind of happy powers falling out of the market. For the hour or so there was so much excitement, with the air so filled with dust and splinters that even old timers were not certain what had happened. By noon, however, the conclusion was made that there had been a highly successful day out of the big outside public in some of the speculative favorites of the past three weeks.

PRICE FOR WHEAT UNDERGOES RALLY

Chicago, March 27.—(AP)—Assessments forthcoming that private estimates will show winter wheat to be at a relatively low condition led to a late rally in wheat prices today. Corn also regained most of an early decline.

Mrs. Daniel was a native of Georgia and a pioneer resident of Atlanta, having come here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Hall, Sr., prior to the civil war. Except for slaves, including a year spent in Japan, her life was simple. She was bound up with this city. The names of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel were closely identified with the organization of the West End Baptist church, of which Mrs. Daniel was a charter member and active worker until her death.

Mrs. Daniel was interested in foreign missionary work, and her year in Japan with her daughter, Mrs. W. Harvey Clarke, was spent in this work. On her return to Atlanta she wrote many interesting papers and delivered talks on the conditions in the Orient.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. Daniel is survived by her son, Walter E. Daniel, and grandchildren, W. Harvey Clarke, Jr., of Atlanta; Mrs. Clarence Eder of Gadsden; Jeremiah Coleman, Lucie and Walter Clarke, of Atlanta; Mrs. Ernest G. Allen, Miss Josephine Daniel, James Coleman Daniel, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Winston Allen, of Greenville, Dorset, and Frances Anne Eden, of Gadsden. Avery and Lowndes funeral directors, in charge.
